Brief presentation of the institution (Faculty of Health Sciences and Social Studies)	In our country, the health visitor training began in 1930 in Budapest with the help of the Rockefeller Foundation within the framework of the National Public Health Institute (OKI) that was established in 1925. The development of general health work made

Brief presentation of the awarding department	it necessary to train more health visitors, so in 1938 the institute in Szeged was founded within the framework of OKI. In 1989, the off-site college of OTKI was taken in by the Albert Szent-Györgyi Medical University as a College level institute, and in addition to the health visitor training, physiotherapist training and general training for social workers were launched. The organization of nurse training started in Hungary in 1993. The training was correspondence at first and also started full-time form in 1995. From the beginning, it is a training that gives the students a bilingual, Hungarian and English, nursing diploma that is recognized without a homologation procedure in the European Union countries. Taking into account the legislation and the institutional resources and possibilities, from September 2000, the Nurse Department and the Health Visitor Department launched a joint training program. The diagnostic imaging and interventional post-secondary vocational education assistant training expands the training range of the Faculty since September 2000. From September 2014, jointly with the Faculty of Dentistry, dental hygienist training also takes place in our Faculty.
Number of students enrolled/graduated yearly	The primary task of the Department of Nursing is to convey the theoretical and practical knowledge of nursing science to the students. The BSc level of nursing education has a duration of 8 semesters (full-time and correspondence) The foreign relations of the Department (eg Germany, Finland, Romania) allow the students to participate in foreign study trips and part-time training. For the specific qualification: Nursing and Patient Care (BSc) Application statics for the year of 2016 : Applicant: 223 Admitted to the university: 60 Graduated in the same year: no data

Page 4 (Learning Outcome Approach)

This should be a text describing the extent to which the Learning Outcomes approach is followed in the formation of the curricula. There is no indicative length of this text because there may be notable differences between cases depending on the extent the approach is used. Still effort should be made the text to remain as short as possible.

Exemplary issues to be considered:

- Use of the learning outcomes approach in the qualification framework.
- Use of the learning outcomes approach in qualification and education standards.
- Use of the learning outcomes approach in taught subject descriptors, clinical practice, and assessment methods.
- Use of the learning outcomes approach in the course quality assurance.

Page 5 (background information on the curriculum formation and application)

This should be a short text (200-300 words maximum) describing the way the curriculum is shaped and introduced. Exemplary issues to be considered:

- Is the curriculum developed by the Ministry of Education and mandatory for all relevant institutions?
- Is the curriculum developed by the Awarding Institution independently?
- What are the margins within which instructors can determine the content of the subjects (e.g. weekly topics, core textbooks), the teaching and the assessment methods etc.?
- Have stakeholders like Association of Nurses, Association of Employers, and/or other social partners been involved in the formation of the curricula? To what extent and in which way?

In selecting background information, partners may find useful to go through some parts of the following CEDEFOP study (see link).

<http://www.cedefop.europa.eu/en/publications-and-resources/publications/3074>

The study may prove inspiring and helpful (e.g. for the content of 'page 4' above), since it illustrates what parameters CEDEFOP researchers looked for in surveying the application of the LO approach across Europe and their findings.
